

STRIPPAGRAMS – MY EXPERIENCE OF

I moved away from my hometown, and had what could be described as a ‘solitary’ job, and I just didn’t find myself among a group where I was invited to birthday parties, weddings, stag dos etc – this was for most of my late 20s, 30s and even 40s.

But during a lot of this time strippagrams were very popular. As I said, I just didn’t get invited to men’s birthday parties or stag dos – the sort of event where they tended to have strippagrams.

But I was rather clever.

I found that if I went round 4 or 5 ‘likely’ pubs between, say, 6.30 and 8 on a Friday or Saturday night, having half a pint in each, I would ‘get wind of where they were having a strippagram.’ There was nearly always one pub at least where it was happening.

And though the chances were I hadn’t been invited to the birthday party or stag do that had booked the strippagram, if you were there in the pub when it happened, they never chucked you out. So over many years I got to see very many strippagrams. The girl didn’t always get naked, though. Sometimes she did and sometimes she didn’t. I believe it was an extra charge for her to ‘get naked’, and not everyone was willing to pay that extra charge – but at least half the time she would. And I usually managed to get in a good position.
